Under 1927 PA 372, a person is presumed qualified for a handgun license if, among other things, he or she is not the subject of a personal protection order (PPO) that has been entered in the Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN). The bill would amend PA 372 to specify that the Department of State Police may not enter a PPO into LEIN until after receiving notice that either the PPO had been served or the respondent had received notice of it. The bill would have no significant fiscal implications for the Department of State Police.
