SUMMARY:

House Bill 4124 would change the tax treatment of retirement income for certain individuals by amending Section 30 of the Income Tax Act. Under current law, the retirement income of married couples filing jointly is treated based on the age of the older spouse. This bill would continue this tax treatment for the younger spouse after the death of the older spouse, as long as the surviving spouse did not remarry during the tax year. The language used is permissive, allowing taxpayers to choose which treatment is most advantageous in their particular situation.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Michigan taxpayers are divided into three age groups that determine the treatment of their retirement tax income; those born before 1946, those born from 1946 through 1952, and everyone born after 1952. The table below describes how most retirement income for each of these groups is treated.

Income Tax Treatment of Retirement Income by Filer's Birth Year
Before 1946	1946-1952	After 1952
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- All public pension income and social security is exempt</li><li>- For private pensions, up to $49,207 for single, and $98,054 for joint filers can be exempted, less any public benefits already exempted</li><li>- Up to $10,767 (single filer) or $21,534 (joint filer) of interest, dividends, or capital gains can be exempted, less any pension income that has been exempted</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Social Security income is exempt</li><li>- Before turning 67, retirement income can be exempted up to $20,000 for single and $40,000 for joint filers</li><li>- After 67 those same maximum exemptions can be applied against all types of income, not just retirement income</li></ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- Between the ages of 62 and 66, retirement benefits from government agencies not covered by social security can be exempted up to $15,000 per individual</li><li>- After age 67 taxpayers can choose either a $20,000 single or $40,000 joint exemption against all types of income</li></ul> OR Exempt social security, rail road, and military pensions and the taxpayer may take the personal exemption.

FISCAL IMPACT:

As written, the bill would reduce gross income tax revenue to the state, impacting the General Fund and School Aid Fund. The amount of this reduction depends on the specific characteristics of individual taxpayers, including their age, marital status, and source and size of retirement income. This particular data cannot be compiled in advance; therefore, a quantitative estimate of the impact of this bill cannot be done at this time.
