Sir—I have this day approved and signed

Enrolled Senate Bill No. 883 (Public Act No. 165), being

An act to make, supplement, and adjust appropriations for certain capital outlay projects for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2018; to provide for expenditure of the appropriations; and to prescribe certain conditions for the appropriations.

(Filed with the Secretary of State on June 4, 2018, at 10:34 a.m.)

Respectfully,
Rick Snyder
Governor

By unanimous consent the Senate proceeded to the order of Resolutions

Senator Kowall moved that consideration of the following resolutions be postponed for today:

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 10

Senate Resolution No. 30

Senate Resolution No. 105

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 20

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 21

Senate Resolution No. 153

Senate Resolution No. 149

The motion prevailed.

Senators O'Brien, Green, Nofs and Shirkey entered the Senate Chamber.

Senator Meekhof offered the following concurrent resolution:

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 34.

A concurrent resolution of tribute offered as a memorial for Raymond D. Dzendzel, former member of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Whereas, It is with great sadness that the members of the Michigan Legislature learned of the passing of Raymond Dzendzel. He was a strong advocate for the people of northwest Detroit and northern Wayne County during his 16 years in the House of Representatives and the Senate; and

Whereas, Raymond Dzendzel was a public servant long before he arrived in Lansing. After graduating from Redford High School, he joined the United States Coast Guard and served in the north Atlantic during World War II. He returned home after the war and earned a bachelor's degree from the Detroit Institute of Technology, working as a carpenter and business representative for his carpenters' union before being elected to the House of Representatives in 1954; and

Whereas, During his two terms in the House, Raymond Dzendzel drew on his experience in the Coast Guard, serving on the Michigan Veterans' Facility and Military and Veterans' Affairs committees. He was also a member of the House committees related to constitutional amendments and apportionment. Raymond Dzendzel served on numerous committees in the Senate after his election to that chamber in 1958, including committees covering elections, insurance, interstate cooperation, judiciary, labor, senate business, and veterans' affairs. He also served on the Legislative Council and was the chairman of the Corporations Committee and the Committee on Committees; and

Whereas, Raymond Dzendzel took on leadership positions during his tenure in the Senate. Most notably, he was his party's leader from December 1963 to January 1969, serving as the Majority Leader during the 1965-1966 session, reflecting the trust and respect he had earned from his colleagues. During his time in the Legislature, he devoted his efforts to many different issues that mattered to his constituents. He worked on education, public safety, seniors, and veterans' issues, but was most known for his efforts on labor, including the creation of the Construction Safety Commission and Board of Residential Contractors; and

Whereas, Raymond Dzendzel enjoyed a long and happy retirement after leaving Lansing in 1970. He spent time with his family and remained active in the community, including serving as a member of the board of directors for Botsford Hospital; and

Whereas, Raymond Dzendzel was an honorable and committed public servant. Upon his passing, we offer our condolences to his family and friends. We hope that they may find comfort in the knowledge that the community as a whole shares in their bereavement, and that the legacy of Raymond Dzendzel's contributions will long continue to enrich our state; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That we offer this expression of our highest tribute to honor the memory of Raymond D. Dzendzel, a member of the House of Representatives from 1955 to 1958 and the Senate from 1959 to 1970; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Dzendzel family as evidence of our lasting esteem for his memory.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the concurrent resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations, Senator Kowall moved that the rule be suspended.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

The concurrent resolution was adopted by a unanimous standing vote of the Senate.

Senator Kowall moved that rule 3.204 be suspended to name the entire membership of the Senate and the Lieutenant Governor as co-sponsors of the concurrent resolution.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of Raymond D. Dzendzel, former member of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Senators Casperson and Young entered the Senate Chamber.

Senator Jones offered the following resolution:

Senate Resolution No. 173.

A resolution to recognize June 2018 as the 50th Anniversary of the Michigan District Judges Association.

Whereas, As required by the 1963 Michigan Constitution, legislation passed and went into effect on June 17, 1968 to create our district court system; and

Whereas, As a result of this legislation, most courts began operation on January 1, 1969; and

Whereas, The district court is often referred to as “The People’s Court” because the public has more contact with the district court than with any other court in the state, due to the fact that many people go to district court without an attorney; and

Whereas, The district court has exclusive jurisdiction over all civil claims for damages up to $25,000 including small claims, landlord-tenant disputes, land contract disputes, and civil infractions. The court may also conduct marriages in a civil ceremony as well; and

Whereas, The district court’s small claims division handles cases in which the amount in controversy is $5,000 or less. The most common civil infractions are minor traffic matters, such as speeding, failure to stop or yield, careless driving, as well as equipment and parking violations; and

Whereas, District courts also handle a wide range of criminal proceedings, including most misdemeanors, offenses for which the maximum possible penalty does not exceed one year in jail; and

Whereas, In misdemeanor cases, the district court judge arraigns the defendant, sets and accepts bail, presides at the trial, and sentences the defendant; and

Whereas, District courts also conduct preliminary examinations in felony cases, after which, if the prosecutor provides sufficient proofs, the felony case is transferred to the circuit court for arraignment and trial; now, therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate, That the members of this legislative body recognize June 2018 as the 50th Anniversary of the Michigan District Judges Association.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations,

Senator Kowall moved that the rule be suspended.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution,

Senator Kowall moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

The motion prevailed.

Senators Ananich, Bieda, Booher, Brandenburg, Casperson, Hansen, Hopgood, Knollenberg, MacGregor, Marleau, Pavlov, Proos, Schuitmaker and Zorn were named co-sponsors of the resolution.

Senator O’Brien asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator O’Brien’s statement is as follows:

Today, it’s a privilege to have a very special guest who is here from my hometown. We have Lindsay Tarpley visiting today as part of Michigan Dairy Day. She is a two-time Olympic gold medalist who scored two of the most important goals in United States Soccer history. She was also the 2003 National Player of the Year in the NCAA, and she helped Portage Central to the State Championships in high school. She has been serving our community and serving youth in trying to promote healthy lifestyles and healthy nutrition, which is why she is passionate about our dairy products.

She is going to be here, outside on the lawn, and hopefully, at some point, we will be able to take a brief break to be able to go out and meet her and some of the fine folks from Michigan Dairy Day out on the lawn between 11:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. Lindsay Tarpley and some of our other guests are up in the North Gallery, please help me welcome them.

Protest

Senator Ananich, under his constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18), protested against the motion to proceed to the order of Third Reading of Bills.

Senator Ananich's statement is as follows:

I'm offering my "no" vote explanation. I believe that instead of going to Third Reading of Bills and lowering people's wages and taking people's training away and taking jobs away from Michigan residents, we should not go to Third Reading of Bills. That's the reason I voted "no" and that's the reason why we offered that objection.

The Senate proceeded to the order of

Third Reading of Bills

Senator Kowall moved that the following bills be placed at the head of the Third Reading of Bills calendar:

In The Chair: Schuitmaker

The initiative petition was referred to the Secretary for filing with the Secretary of State.

Protests

Senators Ananich, Bieda, Gregory, Young, Conyers, Warren and Hertel, under their constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18), protested against the adoption of the initiative petition and moved that the statements they made during the discussion of the initiative petition be printed as their reasons for voting “no.”

The motion prevailed.

Senator Ananich’s statement is as follows:

I’m rising to offer my “no” vote explanation. I rise today to express my disappointment on behalf of Michigan workers. Republicans spend a lot of time talking about the importance of attracting talent and building a competitive workforce. They spend a lot of time talking about the state’s economic recovery. They spend a lot of time talking about making Michigan a better place for corporations and business owners. In all the talk, we never hear them mention workers. Ordinary people across our state go to work every day to provide for their families without making gains. They put in the same long hours for the same wages. The cost of living rises while workers’ incomes are stagnant. Gas prices are increasing and groceries cost more, but paychecks remain the same.

After today, some of those workers will bring home smaller paychecks than they did last week because Republicans voted to eliminate prevailing wage. When you vote to eliminate prevailing wage, you send a message to all the ordinary people getting up for work tomorrow morning that Republicans do not value Michigan workers. If we truly want to attract talent and build a competitive workforce, we have to start by valuing our workers. Decreasing wages tells our workers that the bottom line is more important than the people who ensure our buildings, roads, and bridges are safe.

Michigan workers are our state's greatest asset and it is time we start showing them the respect they deserve. If you truly think the people of Michigan want to repeal prevailing wage, send the question to the voters and let them decide. I have a feeling what they'd say.

Senator Bieda's statement is as follows:

Colleagues, I, too, am rising to give my "no" vote explanation on this bill that seeks to lower the paychecks of Michigan's skilled trades workers. I'd like to remind every single person in this chamber right now what it took for us to be here today. All of us got into our cars and drove on the roads built by our fellow Michiganders. We parked in a parking garage across the street, which was built by Michigan workers. Then we stopped by our offices, which were just recently refurbished at the hands of Michiganders. Finally, we made our way across from the Binsfeld Office Building to the Capitol—crossing yet another road and sidewalk—before making it to this chamber, which by now you've probably guessed—was remodeled by Michigan workers. The fact of the matter is that our path to work is made possible by hardworking Michiganders.

But in just a few minutes, my colleagues on the other side of the aisle will open the floodgates for those contracts to be scooped up by foreign and out-of-state companies. That's right, this is going to open it up to companies outside of Michigan. This vote will essentially send pink slips to our plumbers, electricians, operating engineers, and so many others, telling them their talent is no longer valued here. You know what's really galling about this is that study after study has shown that repealing prevailing wage does not lower the price or cost of public projects.

What this legislation will do, I'll tell you. Workers will see their paychecks slashed by 10 percent, and we can expect to see nearly 25 percent more serious injuries after a repeal. How do we know this? We've watched other states fail miserably after repealing their prevailing wage ordinances. In Indiana for example: "The 2015 repeal of Indiana's prevailing wage law has failed to produce any taxpayer savings and has had a negative effect on wages." Ohio: "bids from non-union contractors were significantly higher than their union counterparts." And in Illinois: "75 percent of recent peer-reviewed studies indicate that construction costs are not affected by prevailing wages."

I want my colleagues on the other side of the aisle to raise their hand if they intend to cut their own salary by 10 percent too. I don't see anybody willing to do what they're about to do to our workers, and that's not right. So when my colleagues promise up to 15 percent savings, just remember that Bernie Madoff and every other con artist promised similar returns on their investment.

We know that American workers are the best in the world, and we should treat them that way by offering strong, competitive paychecks. We should be rebuilding our state, not wasting time making it harder, because we are turning away talent right in our own backyard. I hope Michigan workers see what is happening here today. They earn their paychecks fair and square, and I want them to know that I'm not going to let the greedy swamp monsters take that from them.

I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on this initiative today. It's bad for workers, it's bad for Michigan companies, it's bad for local communities, and ultimately, it's bad for the taxpayers. Michigan workers should be first in line for Michigan jobs, therefore, I cannot support this bill.

Senator Gregory's statement is as follows:

Like my colleague, I also rise for my "no" vote explanation. While we sit in our comfy chairs, there are thousands of Michiganders working in dangerous environments. We have contractors working just feet from cars hurtling down the highway. We have electricians working with wires that carry deadly amounts of voltage. We have steelworkers hanging multiple stories above the ground to do their job. When these men and women leave their homes in the morning, they are doing so knowing full well that there's no guarantee they will make it back home in the evening. However, we can guarantee that more workers make it home to their families at night.

Study after study confirms that states with prevailing wage are safer than states without prevailing wage. In fact, there are nearly double the injuries among full-time construction workers in states without prevailing wage laws. This is alarming to me and it should be alarming to you. Are you really willing to put the lives of your friends, families, and neighbors on the line because a few construction CEOs want to pay their employees less? I have a letter from 75 businesses in Michigan's construction industry pleading with the Legislature to keep our strong prevailing wage laws.

Finally, as lawmakers, we are elected to protect our citizens, not put them in danger. I urge my colleagues to keep Michigan workers safe by voting "no" on this legislation, and let the people have their vote.

Senator Young's statement is as follows:

Families all across this state are deciding: Are they going to have enough money to be able to feed themselves, or feed their children? Are they going to have enough money to be able to keep lights on in the house, or pay auto insurance bills? Are they going to have enough money to be able to send their kid to college, or have enough money to be able to put gas in the tank?

Prevailing wage is not just about paying workers what they are worth and what they have earned. It's about making sure that the middle class is able to educate their children so that they can achieve their dreams and have a better life. It is about making sure that the next generation is in a better place to succeed than the one that came before it. That is our job here—not just as legislators, not as elected leaders, but as human beings, as adults, as men and women—to make sure that the next generation is better off and has it better than we did. Prevailing wage is the way by which that is done. It says that we're going to give you enough money so that you are able to do what is necessary to take care of your family; that if you play by the rules and you work hard, and you understand and you do what you're supposed to do in America, you can make it and you can achieve and you can succeed.

We are destroying that sacred agreement. We are violating that contract that we've had with the workers and the people here in this state. There is a great quote from the Detroit League of Women which says, "lifting while you climb." Basically what that means is it's good that you go forward and achieve your dreams, but you have a responsibility to bring people with you. That's what prevailing wage does. It makes sure that people who are working can bring their children to the next generation of prosperity and equity. Isn't that what we want? Isn't that why we got elected in the first place?

This isn't just about money, or dollars or cents, or unions and non-unions, or progressives or conservatives. This is about Michiganders being able to make it, but we have a responsibility as a state to do more for our citizens than just make sure they survive. We have an obligation to make sure that they thrive and prevailing wage is the tool by which that is done. That is the sacred negotiation that we have with the citizens here.

I'm looking up in the Gallery and I'm seeing all of these children. That's who we're doing this for so that when they decide to go to work, they will be paid what they have earned. These are men who earn by the sweat of their brow, who have shed blood, sweat, tears, and toil, not only so that they can have, but their families can have, so they can pass down that legacy of hard work and accomplishments. That's what this is.

Now, I know everybody might have their feeling about minimum wage and their feeling about prevailing wage and their feeling about unions, but let's understand something for a minute here. If you like the weekend, thank the union. If you like sick leave, thank the union. If you like pensions and healthcare, thank the union. If you like better working conditions and raises, thank the union. It is the unions that provided that quality of life for all of us to have. Regardless of how you feel in terms of reform or not reform, we are dealing with something much more sacred than just unionism—which is very sacred—but we're dealing with wages. This is money that people have worked themselves to the bone, who have made undogly sacrifices, to have and to hold and to claim.

You know, sometimes the biggest miracles are the smallest things you never see, like a single mother who works two or three jobs just to make ends meet and is able to take the kids to soccer practice, and the father who somehow manages—even though he might make $40,000 to $50,000 per year—to scrimp and to save and find a way for his baby to be able to go to an Ivy League school. This is stuff that goes on in my neighborhood all the time. I've got people who are making decisions between: Am I going to pay for auto insurance or am I going to have water in the house? How do children who live in that type of environment go on to college and go on to be successful in life? That is a modern miracle. Do you want to know how that happens? Because we have laws like prevailing wage that make sure that those families are able, when they get that job, that they have enough money to be able to pay for their children's success. They have enough money to be able to make ends meet. They have enough money to be able to make a better quality of life.

I'm asking you, I'm imploring you, I'm begging you, for the sake of working families across the state of Michigan and the United States of America, we cannot get rid of prevailing wage. Please, I ask my colleagues to join me in voting this down. This is not right and the people of Michigan deserve better than this, and you know this more than I do because you have people in your districts just like I have people in my district. You have that auto worker—you know who I'm talking about, the guys who take showers after work, not before—who's relying on this, who's counting on this, who's made commitments to his family that this is what I'm going to bring home, and you're going to take that away from him? For what? We can have arguments and disagreements and, trust me, we're going to, but I don't think this should be one of them.

For the sake of working families across this great state, please join me in voting this down.

Senator Conyers' statement is as follows:

I rise for my "no" vote explanation.

If I cannot make the moral argument that investing in Michigan families and workers is of the public good, than let me make the business argument on why we should not repeal this initiative. You know, in this Senate, we specifically are in an era where we're seeking investment and creating the environment for jobs in Michigan to flourish. We're seeking investment for our students to have the opportunity to learn skilled trades to flourish, and it seems that this would be a direct contradiction of that.

It would hurt the opportunities for those folks who want to move their business to our state. It would discourage those folks who are learning in skilled trades centers like A. Philip Randolph—that this body has chosen to invest in—from finishing out and seeking a job in the skilled trades. If we think that the Amazons, the Foxconn's, or the Army Futures Center would move to this state without a decent wage that families can invest in, we are really missing the boat on what it means to live in the state of Michigan.

You know, it was nearly 100 years ago that my great grandfather, John Conyers, Sr., made his way to this state from unincorporated rural Georgia, in a town that bears our same last name—for reasons that we should all look away from—for folks who didn't have the opportunity to participate in earning that wage. When he made his way to our state in 1923, at the age of 17, he set about creating an environment for all folks to have a decent wage. One of the first workers in the United Auto Workers, it wasn't about him, it wasn't about organizing, it was about an honest wage for an honest days' work. Folks who worked all day long to build this state, to build a working class, for each and every one of us to stand on their shoulders. That's what it was about.

Looking at this legislation, I ask myself: If he were today, and was 17 years old deciding to live the rest of his life in Michigan, would he make the choice to stay today? I think the answer without prevailing wage is "no." I think the answer for DBEs, for women, minorities, and veterans is "no." I think the answer for many new families or communities that want to stay here, without prevailing wage, is "no."

I urge your "no" vote.

Senator Warren's statement is as follows:

As I'm sure that we are all aware, the issue of prevailing wages has been around in our country for over 100 years, and in our state for more than five decades. This is a policy that has stood the test of time, which has meant the difference in worker quality, and in projects coming in on time, on budget, and being safe for our people. The repeal of a program that has lasted so long in this state and so many other states in our nation deserves better consideration than we are giving it here today.

The biggest concern that I have is that the entire conversation is built on a false premise. It's built on the false premise that somehow we're going to save millions—tens of millions, hundreds of millions—of dollars of the taxpayer's money by doing away with this policy. This is America and everybody is entitled to their own opinions, but not to their own set of facts.

Colleagues, there are hard facts about what repealing prevailing wage would mean. We draw those facts from serious, modern, academically rigorous, peer-reviewed research that has been done in the states that have already made the decision to repeal their prevailing wage laws. Not even one that fits that description shows that prevailing wage repeal would save money. Not one.

The one so-called study that gets quoted often—and there were three studies built from that—has been so soundly refuted, yet we keep throwing that study around like there will be hundreds of millions of dollars that could be saved here in Michigan if we repeal prevailing wage.

All of the current studies that are held up as academically rigorous—that were done in academic institutions, not paid for by someone on either side of this debate—say that passing the repeal of prevailing wage laws shows no savings to the taxpayers because they do not drive up the cost of the contracts. Prevailing wage laws do not drive up the cost of construction contracts, period, but they do protect workers against injury and death. States that have repealed the prevailing wage laws see more people hurt and killed on the job, and they see the quality of workmanship decline. The studies show cost overruns increasing, change orders increasing, and more problems in construction. They also show a decrease in worker training and apprenticeship programs.

One thing that is a benefit in prevailing wage states is that we have some of the best trained workers around the world. At a time when we are taking so many actions to attract and retain a skilled workforce, what we're voting on today simply doesn't make sense for Michigan. If we make the decision to repeal the prevailing wage law, I can guarantee you that a few years down the road, someone else will be doing a case study on Michigan, and they will be writing that we have higher costs, more worker injuries, more worker deaths, and less quality construction, because that's what happens in every other state that has repealed their prevailing wage laws.

Prevailing wage works. It gives us quality construction and gives us quality work by tradespeople that built our state and continue to do so every day.

I encourage you to think hard about what the facts are. Have your opinions, but take the facts, and join me in voting to oppose repealing our prevailing wage law.

Senator Hertel's statement is as follows:

I rise to give my "no" vote explanation. I often sit in this chamber, and try to understand the motivations of my colleagues across the aisle. This is often an arduous task, and especially difficult on this issue.

I am curious, colleagues, how many constituent calls have you had asking to cut the wages of our constituents? How many calls do you get saying, "Please return my tax dollars to the pockets of corporations?" I doubt there have been many calls like that. That being said, I want to give you the benefit of the doubt. So I've racked my brain and I've thought a lot about the possible arguments that you could have on this issue.

Will this bill save taxpayers money? The answer is no. It will only cost our state in the long run. Labor is only 20 percent of construction costs and there will not be significant savings from this measure, regardless of the lies told to Michigan's people. According to numerous studies, including the Economics Department at the University of Utah, and the Midwest Economic Policy Institute, a repeal of prevailing wage is catastrophic for economic activity. For example, these studies revealed that a repeal of prevailing wage could cost the state $1.7 billion in economic activity, around 11,000 jobs and $28 million in tax revenues. Eliminating prevailing wage saves taxpayers almost no dollars, and any savings are eaten up by shoddy work and costly overruns due to the mistakes. This bill has nothing to do with saving taxpayer dollars.

So, will this bill lead to higher infrastructure? Higher quality infrastructure? Again, the answer is no. In what world has cheaper and less-skilled labor ever translated to higher quality work? Literally everyone has heard the phrase, "You get what you pay for," and prevailing wage could not be a more perfect example. When we're paying to build our schools that we send our kids to, or the bridges and roads that we drive on, I would think we want to make sure we're getting the highest quality possible. Studies show that prevailing wage laws are associated with fewer workplace injuries, and code violations, which means safer worksites for our tradespeople. Repealing prevailing wage and placing unskilled and poorly trained labor at these worksites is a disaster waiting to happen. Not only does cheap and untrained labor mean shoddy work that will have to be patched up and fixed at taxpayers' expense, it also means more workplace injuries, which means more litigation and expenses to our state. This has nothing to do with improving quality.

So, will this bill help with our skilled labor shortage? Well, I think we all know the answer to that one. You know, colleagues, those who fail to learn from history are doomed to repeat it. We cut teachers' salaries, we cut teachers' benefits, we vilified teachers for years, and then we had a teacher shortage. And some Senators in this body had the audacity to say, "Why do we have a teacher shortage?" Look in the mirror. These bills that we pass, these attacks on working people have consequences. We're going to spend $100 million of taxpayer money through the Marshall plan to increase skilled employees, to increase carpenters, plumbers, operators, laborers, and electricians. One hundred thousand dollars we're going to spend to train people and then pay them less so that they leave the state immediately. I mean, if you had any common sense whatsoever, it would be impossible to think that was a good idea.

So if it's not to save taxpayer money, it's not to improve quality, and it worsens our burgeoning labor shortage, then why are we tripping over ourselves to go around the voters and around the Governor to do this? Well, I've thought about that a lot. On these tough legislative days, I think about my father, who served in this body in a much different time. And I think about all he taught me about politics and public service, and on this issue, I can hear his voice loud and clear: "Follow the money, son."

The millions of dollars spent to collect signatures was done by contractors that can't compete by paying a fair wage. It is thus unsurprising that these special interests have no issue lying to our citizens to build support for a proposal that conveniently does nothing to limit their profits at the taxpayers' expense. Once again, the working men get left behind paying the bill. It is a blatant attempt to rig the game and stuff their pockets with taxpayer dollars of the hardworking people of this state. Why else would shady contractors spend millions to lie to voters just to get their signatures? And you're going to reward them. Why else would we pass a proposal that limits the wages of a worker on a job but not the wealthy contractors? The guy sitting in the office drinking coffee gets a raise, we're not going to limit his profits, in fact, we are encouraging him to hire people with less skills and put their safety at risk, all so he can make a little more money and maybe give the other side of the aisle a slightly bigger campaign donation.

This is a circumvention of our democracy. A game that is being played by this body to stuff the money in the pockets of those who want the right to pay workers less. To my brothers and sisters in labor, to those who build Michigan from the ground up, to those who build our schools our children learn in, to those who lay our roads we drive on, to those who even work on this magnificent building where we are supposed to be doing the people's work, I am sorry for the actions of my colleagues. If right to work did not tell you, if the attack on teachers didn't show you, if the attack on police and firefighters didn't prove it, they are not on your side. Politicians love to portray themselves as champions of the working class, but this should be the death knell of that lie. Instead, it represents the pocketbooks of a select few who are placing profits over people and trying to make an extra buck by shortchanging the hard-working men and women of this state, who have fought for years to secure fair wages.

Let me be crystal clear, colleagues: those who are in the Gallery, those who are on the lawn, those who call your office, those are your constituents. Not those who stuff campaign promises and checks. Those aren't your constituents. The people you serve are out there. If neither the disastrous economic effects of this initiative on our working class, nor the immorality of snuffing out opportunities for future generations moves you, then I ask that you consider the message that we would send to the Michigan voters by deciding that this issue is for you to decide and not them. Many of my counterparts across the aisle speak often of small government, and restoring power back to the people, yet apparently, see no qualms in circumventing the voice of millions of voters by pushing this measure through the Legislature today. To vote to pass this initiative in this manner is to send a clear message to the people of Michigan that you believe that they do not know best. But see, my colleagues, I have faith in the Michigan people. While you take their jobs, while you take their access to health care, while you cut their pay today, at the end of the day, they get to take your jobs in November. So either way, the people will decide on this issue.

For the hard-working people of this state, for every taxpayer who drives on our roads and sends their children to our schools, and for every voter who deserves to have their voice heard on this in November, I urge you to vote "no," and send this measure to the ballot.

Senator Meekhof asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Meekhof's statement is as follows:

It is my joy and my privilege today to rise in support of the people for whom I work hard each and every day to serve: the taxpayers of Michigan. Michigan taxpayers are the reason we all sit in this chamber today, and an antiquated prevailing wage law is costing our taxpayers a lot of money.

When a school or a road or a bridge project is built in Michigan, it costs taxpayers anywhere from 10 to 15 percent more than if it were built by the private sector. For decades, we have told our citizens that they must pay more for projects. Our citizens work hard each and every day to provide for their families and contribute to their communities. The time has come to eliminate this outdated law and save our taxpayers money.

Elimination of prevailing wage has been my top priority since I entered the Legislature. In fact, it was the very first bill introduced in the House of Representatives when I served, and in the Senate. Ever since my days as a township official, it has not made sense to me that my neighbors should have to pay more for community projects than the private sector.

I am happy to vote today to repeal prevailing wage and put an end to an outdated law that takes money from our citizens' pocket.

By unanimous consent the Senate proceeded to the order of
