

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 59

Senators Geiss, Cherry, Shink, Klinefelt, Chang, Brinks, Bayer, McMorrow, McCann, Irwin and Wojno offered the following resolution:

1 A resolution to commemorate June 12, 2023, as Loving Day.

2 Whereas, Mildred and Richard Loving were an interracial couple 3 who were married in Washington D.C., in 1958, but were banned from 4 marrying in their home state of Virginia, where interracial 5 marriage was illegal at the time; and

6 Whereas, The Lovings were arrested five weeks after their 7 marriage, found guilty of violating the Act to Preserve Racial 8 Integrity, and banned from the state of Virginia for 25 years; and

9 Whereas, The Lovings challenged this ruling five years into 10 their 25 year sentence and their case was taken up by the American 11 Civil Liberties Union; and

1 Whereas, Loving v. Virginia worked its way through the 2 judicial system until the United States Supreme Court unanimously 3 decided in 1967 that the Lovings' marriage should be upheld; and

4 Whereas, The Virginia statute was found unconstitutional under 5 the 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution which forbids
6 states from restricting basic rights of citizens or other persons;

8 Whereas, Laws banning interracial marriages were found
9 similarly unconstitutional and struck down in 16 remaining states 10 that observed them; and

11 Whereas, Loving Day was founded in 2004, and has garnered
12 support from thousands of people domestically and internationally, 13 and from organizations and publications; and

14 Whereas, Loving Day celebrations aim to create a common 15 connection between multiracial communities, groups, and 16 individuals; and

17 Whereas, Loving Day's mission is to fight racial prejudice,
18 promote tolerance, awareness, and understanding through education, 19 and foster supportive multicultural communities; and

20 Whereas, Loving Day seeks to commemorate and celebrate the 21 United States Supreme Court's 1967 ruling, keeping its importance 22 fresh in the minds of a generation that has grown up with 23 interracial relationships being legal, as well as to explore issues 24 facing couples currently in interracial relationships; and

25 Whereas, Michigan has long celebrated and enjoyed this freedom
26 since it became state law in 1883 by repeal of the 1838
27 Miscegenation Act; and

28 Whereas, We now advance through the 21st century as a
29 multiracial and multicultural society and realize that we must find

1 a common vision from our interwoven past to build a society free of 2 racism for the benefit of our collective future; now, therefore, be
